University Records Management Policy

RELATED STATUTES, REGULATIONS, POLICIES, ETC.
List known statutes, regulations, policies (including unit level policies), or similar related to or impacted by the concept. Include hyperlinks where possible, excerpts when practical (e.g. a short statute), or attachments if necessary. Examples: statute that negates the need for or requires updates to an existing policy; unit level policy(ies) proposed for University-wide enactment; or existing policies used in a new, merged and updated policy.
Oregon State Statute ORS 192.001 asserts that Oregon public bodies “have a responsibility to ensure orderly retention and destruction of all public records, whether current or noncurrent, and to ensure the preservation of public records of value for administrative, legal and research purposes.” Retention schedules, the essential core of Records Management Programs, support an organization’s ability to comply with this responsibility by identifying categories of records and how long to retain these to comply with external or institutional requirements. https://www.oregonlaws.org/ors/192.001

Prior to July 1, 2014, UO was subject to the Oregon Secretary of State Oregon University System Records Retention Schedule. ORS 352.138, the “Applicability of Laws to Universities with a Governing Board” (https://www.oregonlaws.org/ors/352.138) states that ORS 192.105 (State Archivist authorization for state officials to dispose of records) no longer applies to a university with a governing board. As a result, the University will need to draft and apply a records retention schedule to support compliance with ORS 192.001.

Additionally, UO Policy IV.02.02 (Internal Controls) describes the University of Oregon’s commitment to transparency and “[c]ompliance with applicable laws and regulations” through the institution of internal controls. Records Management Programs advise employees on best practices for documenting UO work, and introduce and monitor intellectual and physical controls over the life-cycle of information. https://policies.uoregon.edu/vol-4-finance-administration-infrastructure/ch-2-audits/internal-controls

A list of specific authorities that govern record keeping for the University of Oregon is available in the records retention schedule; these authorities include
* Federal and Oregon Statutes and Regulations;
* Funding Agency Rules;
* University of Oregon Policies;
* Collective Bargaining Agreements;
* Accreditation Standards; and,
* Professional Standards and Best Practices.

STATEMENT OF NEED

What does this concept accomplish and why is it necessary?

The University of Oregon (“the University”) is subject to recordkeeping requirements established by state and federal laws. Reliable, authentic, complete records evidence decision-making and serve as primary vehicles for demonstrating compliance with policies and laws; preserving institutional memory; and promoting business continuity.

As a public body, the University of Oregon has a responsibility to “ensure orderly retention and destruction of all public records” and “the preservation of public records of value for administrative, legal and research purposes.” ORS 192.001. Public records are not media specific; they may be digital or physical (paper, audiotape, microfilm).

Not all records require indefinite retention. Organizations use Records Retention Schedules (“RRS”), a listing of various groups of records, how long to retain them based on legal and administrative requirements, and who is responsible for their management, to “ensure orderly retention and destruction of all public records.”

The RRS University of Oregon has on file is over 20 years old and was written for the OUS system.

AFFECTED PARTIES
Who is impacted by this change, and how?
All University employees, volunteers, agents, units, and other individuals/entities acting on behalf of the University who create, manage, or otherwise retain University public records as defined in this policy.

CONSULTED STAKEHOLDERS
Which offices/departments have reviewed your concept and are they confirmed as supportive? (Please do not provide a list of every individual consulted. Remain focused on stakeholders (e.g. ASUO, Office of the Provost, Registrar, Title IX Coordinator, etc.).)

REASON FOR POLICY

Oregon law states that Oregon public bodies “have a responsibility to ensure orderly retention and destruction of all public records, whether current or noncurrent, and to ensure the preservation of public records of value for administrative, legal and research purposes.” The University of Oregon (“the University”) is subject to recordkeeping requirements established by state and federal laws. Reliable, authentic, complete records evidence decision-making and serve as primary vehicles for demonstrating compliance with policies and laws; preserving institutional memory; and, promoting business continuity.

ENTITIES AFFECTED BY THIS POLICY

All University employees, volunteers, agents, units, and other individuals/entities acting on behalf of the University who create, manage, or otherwise retain University public records as defined in this policy.

WEB SITE ADDRESS FOR THIS POLICY

[Provided by Office of the University Secretary after policy is posted online]

RESPONSIBLE OFFICE

For questions about this policy, please contact the University Records Manager at recordsmgr@uoregon.edu. The Responsible Executive Officer of this policy is the Vice President and General Counsel.

ENACTMENT & REVISION HISTORY

[To be completed upon enactment.]

1. POLICY STATEMENT AND RESPONSIBILITIES

1.1 The University policy is to have a university-wide Records Management Program (the “Program”). Records Subject to Retention, as defined below, must be managed and retained for the specific periods of time set forth in the procedures that accompany this policy, in accordance with institutional or legal requirements, or for historical purposes.

1.2 The University shall maintain a records retention schedule for University Public Records that are Records Subject to Retention. The retention schedule shall be part of the procedures accompanying this policy. Records Subject to Retention must be retained and managed for the retention periods set forth in the University’s records retention schedule contained in the procedures accompanying this policy, and may only be disposed of according to that schedule. Except as provided in Section 1.5 and 1.6, when authorized by this policy (i.e., after the retention period is met), a University employee, volunteer, agent, or unit may destroy Records Subject to Retention according to the University’s record retention schedule.

1.3. Records that are not University Public Records, and Records Not Subject to Retention have no retention requirement and may be disposed of immediately. Such records containing confidential, sensitive or otherwise protected information should be destroyed in a secure manner such as shredding. Except as authorized by this policy and its accompanying procedures, no person may dispose of a University Public Record.

1.4 The University’s records retention schedule shall be established and maintained by the Program, shall be posted at recordsmanagement.uoregon.edu, and shall be reviewed every three years.

1.5 To the extent that state or federal laws prescribe retention periods for records not listed in the retention schedule or prescribe longer retention periods for records listed in the schedule, those laws are to be followed. While units are responsible for maintaining a general understanding of the laws and retention requirements that apply to their areas, units are encouraged to consult with the Office of the General Counsel (OGC) regarding questions about applicable legal requirements. Requests for changes in retention requirements within the schedule should be made to the University Records Manager and may be implemented only after approval by the University Records Manager in consultation with OGC.

1.6 From time to time, the application of the retention schedule may be temporarily halted for legal and/or administrative reasons. University Public Records may be material to a pending or threatened tort claim notice, litigation, or administrative proceedings or may become subject to an active public records request, subpoena, litigation discovery request, audit, internal or external investigation, or litigation hold. Additionally, because organizational structures change over time, which may impact custodial responsibilities, it is possible to place an administrative hold on records that have otherwise met their retention period. In any of these triggering circumstances, and regardless of the terms of the University’s retention schedule, no University Public Records may be destroyed unless and until the triggering circumstance is concluded, and OGC approves their disposal. Units must inform OGC of any situation that might give rise to legal action as soon as the situation becomes apparent.

1.7 This policy supersedes any and all previous University records retention and destruction policies and related procedures. To the extent current University policies or procedures address specific retention requirements, those requirements are hereby amended to conform with this policy, its accompanying procedures and the retention requirements contained therein.

2. ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES
2.1 The University Records Manager shall direct the Program to develop, deliver, and monitor procedures and training to guide employees in how to create, maintain, protect, retain, and dispose of records in a manner consistent with legal requirements, operational needs, and preservation best practices.

2.2 All employees, volunteers, agents, units, and other individuals/entities acting on behalf of the University shall manage and dispose of records they create or receive in the course of business in accordance with the policy and accompanying procedures; and participate in Records Management trainings and related activities as requested.

2.3 The University Archivist will assist units holding Records Subject to Retention that may have long-term administrative or historical value, including identifying such records and developing a plan for their preservation and access.

2.4 The Office of the General Counsel shall coordinate discovery and public records requests and has the authority to suspend retention periods due to a pending public records request, subpoena, litigation discovery request, audit, internal or external investigation, or litigation hold.

2.5 Executive leadership shall allocate time required of employees to achieve compliance with the policy; work with direct reports to ensure recordkeeping responsibilities are met; and complete annual Records Management training.

2.6 Senior leadership, such as Associate Vice Presidents, Deans, Directors, or their designees, shall work with their direct reports to identify one or more employees who will serve as the Records Steward(s) for their designated areas and empower them to lead Records Management activities; support Records Steward’s participation in training and implementation activities; ensure that individual employees in their portfolios receive appropriate guidance; and complete annual Records Management training.

2.7 Records Stewards, shall guide the systematic maintenance and disposal of records and cooperation of all employees; serve as a resource to others in their units/departments/programs; and complete annual Records Management training. The criteria, time commitment, and scope of work for Records Stewards shall be described in the procedures accompanying this policy.

3 ENFORCEMENT

3.1 This policy has the force of law pursuant to Oregon law. It may be enforced through appropriate employee and volunteer personnel procedures, contract administration procedures, and student conduct code proceedings. In the event that the procedure used in a particular case does not include an opportunity for an appeal of any initial decision to a higher level within the University, the person aggrieved by such a decision may, within ten days of the decision, appeal the decision in writing to the University Records Manager.
4 DEFINITIONS

4.1 “University Public Record” means any book, document, paper, file, photograph, sound recording, computerized recording in machine or electronic storage, records or other materials, regardless of physical form or characteristic, made, received, filed or recorded at the University pursuant to law or in connection with the transaction of any University business or activity, whether or not confidential or restricted in use or access. These records constitute University property.

4.1.1 “Records Subject to Retention” means University Public Records identified in the University’s Retention Schedule or in a federal or state law prescribing a retention period for such records.

4.1.2 “Records Not Subject to Retention” means University Public Records that are not subject to retention. They include, but are not limited to:

- Messages on voice mail or on other telephone message storage and retrieval systems.
- University Public Records that are duplicates by reason of being photocopies or electronic copies.
- Transmittal and acknowledgment letters or emails.
- Spam, advertising, and announcements.
- Correspondence or notes pertaining to reservations of accommodations or scheduling of personal visits or appearances.
- Private emails or other messages or records that do not relate to University business or activities.
- Electronic text messages sent from one cellphone to another.
- Temporary records that may result from communication technologies (e.g., instant messaging, image messaging, and other multimedia mobile applications or technologies that may be developed and used in the future).
- Superseded drafts of letters or emails, minutes, notes, memoranda, reports, or articles.
- Desk, telephone, or meeting notes intended for temporary or personal use.
- Daily calendar or scheduling information.
- A stock of publications.
- Library and museum materials made or acquired and preserved solely for reference or exhibition purposes.
- Any metadata associated with a Record Not Subject to Retention.

Introduction

As a public body, the University of Oregon has a responsibility to “ensure orderly retention and destruction of all public records” and “the preservation of public records of value for administrative, legal and research purposes.”

Records

The University Records Management Policy, among other things, establishes the definition of records, and should be reviewed by all University of Oregon employees. Records

- are not media specific; they may be digital (for example, e-mail, .pdf, data and metadata) or physical (for example, paper, audiotape, microfilm, CDs, DVDs, film).
- document key activities, programs, decisions, or milestones; and/or money received, managed, or spent; and/or the rights or responsibilities of UO or its personnel
- do not all need to be kept for the same amount of time.

The Records Retention Schedule (RRS)

The University of Oregon uses an organization wide Records Retention Schedules ("RRS"), presented in this document, to guide its recordkeeping. The RRS does not prescribe a filing structure. It provides timeframes, responsibilities, and handling instructions and labels for tagging content.

The RRS presents information using the following conventions:

- Series Records grouped by activity and requirements. Each Series has a heading and a brief description and/or list of the kinds of material that make it up. Where present, the lists are not exhaustive.
- Office of Record The program, unit, or department accountable for maintaining reliable, complete, and accessible records in the given series for the duration of assigned retention period.
  - Being named the Office of Record is not always synonymous with having physical custody of the material. In cases where third parties are used to store or manage data that are records, the Responsible Office(s) remain(s) accountable as described above.
  - More information about responsibilities for responsible offices can be found in the Records Maintenance section of the program’s website.
- Retention and Disposition Instructions Minimum time to keep records in the series and what happens when that time has been met, disposal method (Recycle or Delete; Shred or Erase; Coordinate with University Archives), and any other special handling required, as is the case with vital records.

When does the RRS not apply?

Disposal activities should be halted in case of an impending audit, litigation, major organizational restructuring, or public records request

Personal records and some other material are outside scope for the RRS.

Learn more by reviewing the University Records Management Policy.
These instructions are based on government regulations, funding agency rules, UO Policies, Collective Bargaining Agreements, and professional standards and best practices.

The RRS is organized into five functional sections:

I. Governance
II. Academics, Instruction and Research
III. Administration of Student Affairs
IV. Finance, Administration and Infrastructure
V. Human Resources

While some of the section headings resemble department names, it is important to keep in mind that they represent functions, not departments.

Example: an academic department will find information about records that pertain to its work not only in the 2. Academics, Instruction and Research but also sections 4. Finance, Administration and Infrastructure, and 5. Human Resources.

The retention schedule includes a list of references that link to laws, regulations, standards, and best practices that inform the established retention rule.

The Records Management Program has guidelines and advice for how to organize files and is available to meet with employees to discuss specific needs.
University Records Retention Schedule

I. Governance

I-01. Governance and Board Affairs

I-01-01. Governance Records
Document the by-laws, constitution, and shared governance roles by the President, professors and University constituencies.

Retention and Disposition Instructions
Maintain 10 years after current year, and then transfer to University Archives.

Office of Record
Office of the University Secretary

I-01-02. Board of Trustees Meeting Records
Document policies, standards, directives and other actions approved by the Board of Trustees or a committee of the Board as appropriate ("Board actions").

- Meeting agendas, notes, minutes
- Studies, Reports and Recommendations
- Resolutions and enactments
- Related substantive documentation and correspondence
- Working files and logistics documentation and correspondence – maintain 1 years after current academic year, then shred paper and/or overwrite data or physically destroy storage media holding electronic records.

Retention and Disposition Instructions
Maintain 10 years after current year, and then transfer to University Archives.

Office of Record
Office of the University President

I-01-03. University Senate Records
Document the proceedings and actions of the faculty senate.

- Governance documents and by-laws - 10 years after amended, and then transfer to University Archives
- Meeting agendas, notes, minutes
- Studies, Reports and Recommendations
- Resolutions and enactments
- Related substantive documentation and correspondence
- Working files and logistics documentation and correspondence – maintain 1 years after current academic year, then shred paper and/or overwrite data or physically destroy storage media holding electronic records.

- Resolutions and enactments
- Related substantive documentation and correspondence
- Working files and logistics documentation and correspondence – maintain 1 years after current academic year, then shred paper and/or overwrite data or physically destroy storage media holding electronic records.

Retention and Disposition Instructions
Maintain 10 years after current academic year, unless otherwise indicated and then transfer to University Archives. Retain working files 3 years, then shred paper and/or overwrite data or physically destroy storage media holding electronic records.

Office of Record

Office of the University President

I-02. Legal Affairs

I-02-01. Legal Matters and Cases
Document litigation brought by or against the University of Oregon.

- Notices of claim or litigation
- Pleadings
- Final decisions
- Summary statements
- Substantive memoranda, correspondence, and subject files

Retention and Disposition Instructions
Maintain 10 years after final decision or until business use ceases for cases resulting in major policy modifications, and then transfer to University Archives; 6 years after final decision for all other records, then shred paper and/or overwrite data or physically destroy storage media holding electronic records.

Office of Record

Office of General Counsel

I-03. Policies and Directives

I-03-01. University Policies Records
Document development policies, standards and directives approved by the President of the University regarding matters within the authority of the President ("Presidential actions").

Retention and Disposition Instructions
Maintain 10 years after policy superseded, and then transfer to University Archives.
II. Academics, Instruction and Research

Records series listed under this classification document the following activities undertaken by the university in pursuit of its mission:

- development, presentation, and evaluation of courses of study for credit, continuing education, and non-credit programs matriculated and non-matriculated students;
- acquisition and management of library, archives, or other scholarly research or teaching collections;
- research project proposals, funding, ethics.

For records related to doctoral internships in the Counseling Center, or Grade Book and Student Exams/Papers Records Series, see III. Administration of Student Records section. For faculty and instructors personnel matters, see V. Human Resources section.

II-01. Curriculum and instruction

II-01-01. Program Planning

Document development of programs of study for credit, continuing education, and non-credit programs. See section on University Senate for UO Committee on Courses (UOCC) records.

- Course evaluation statistics and other assessment data
- Curriculum reports
- Meeting minutes and reports of department/college/school curriculum committees
- Proposals for the addition of new, changes to, or discontinuation of courses or programs – maintain 3 years after determination for proposals denied, then shred paper and/or overwrite data or physically destroy storage media holding electronic records.
- Related substantive documentation and correspondence
- Working files and logistics documentation and correspondence – maintain 1 years after current academic year, then shred paper and/or overwrite data or physically destroy storage media holding electronic records.

Retention

Maintain 5 years after current academic year, unless otherwise indicated, and then transfer to University Archives.

Office of Record

Student Services and Enrollment Management: Continuing and Professional Education for non-credit instruction
Academic Affairs: Departments/Colleges/Schools for credit instruction

II-01-02. Articulation Agreements

Document formal arrangements with other postsecondary institutions for transfer of coursework and credits.

Retention and Disposition Instructions

Maintain 10 years after expiration of agreement, and then transfer to University Archives.

Office of Record

Any signatory office

II-01-03. Guides, Catalogs, and Bulletins
Document course and/or program information for credit, continuing education, and non-credit programs, including student and faculty handbooks, course catalogs, schedule of classes and bulletins

- Related substantive documentation and correspondence – maintain 5 years after current academic year in which the event was held, then shred paper and/or overwrite data or physically destroy storage media holding electronic records.
- Working files and logistics documentation and correspondence - maintain 1 years after current academic year in which event was held, then shred paper and/or overwrite data or physically destroy storage media holding electronic records.

Retention and Disposition Instructions
Transfer 2 copies of final production/published event program to the University Archives.

Office of Record

One recommended approach is the retention of all employment records through the duration of the individual’s employment and for seven years after the date of the action (29 CFR § 1602.49, 41 CFR § 60-1.12). State laws or institutional protocols may specify a longer period.

80 “If an organization has employees, it must keep employment tax records for at least four years after the date the tax becomes due or is paid, whichever is later.
